SIGHT IN STORE FOR ANDERSON

Two Ring Circus Backed Off the Boards by Surprises Coming Here

A gentleman of leisure, an Andersonian by birth, but a man "fur traveled on the kars," as well, condescended to walk up the street with a reporter for The Intelligencer yesterday and as the two passed by one of the fashionable millinery shops of the city the proprietor rushed out and asked the reporter to step in and see an innovation for Anderson. The invitation was accepted and accompanied by the friend the two entered the millinery parlors. When to and behold, a slender damsel with sea green hair tripped daintily from behind a screen. The reporter and his friend started with open mouths at this apparition. It goes without saying that neither of them had ever seen a woman with such green hair and in the vernacular of the day it did little short of setting their William.

She was pretty. There can be no denying that fact but the reporter would not dare express their opinion that all the people are going to think so when she comes out on the street and from what he could gather yesterday during his short stay in the millinery parlors, the public appearance it to take place Saturday exactly on the stroke of noon and the young lady to walk around the Plaza. Therefore, it is preferred that the statement as to her good looks be accepted with a grain of salt until the curios can see for themselves tomorrow at noon whether or not she is so remarkably good looking, green hair or not. Her blue eyes have a greenish tone, and the hat she wore yesterday was also of the latest green, green shade. Miss Green silk was the color of her pretty silken hose peeping forth from beneath her skirts yesterday (all variety of colors) and this skirt was likewise a pretty green shade. To tell the absolute truth, that costume had a front lawn planted in grass backed off the board. It made a healthy grass plot look like a pale blue when compared to the raiment in which the young lady was attired.

Of course the millinery parlor has simply imported the latest thing, the colored wig, into Anderson and that was the sight the reporter saw yesterday and that's exactly what the anxious reader will see appearing on the plaza tomorrow at 12 o'clock. It is presumed that a number of staid old business men are going to have important engagements around the plaza tomorrow at noon.

(P. S.—And after writing this, he woke up, and was so glad it was a dream.)

London, March 12.—Walter Hines Page, United States ambassador was much surprised when told today of the senate resolution in connection with his speech last night. "The speech was innocent enough, wasn't it," he asked an interviewer. Asked whether objection might be taken to the last sentence of his speech, referring to the Panama canal Mr. Page replied that was a mere cleanantry.

COMPLETE PRIZE LIST HAS BEEN ANNOUNCED

SCHOOL CHILDREN HAVE GREAT CHANCE

FOR FIELD DAY

Winners in Various Contests During Field Day Will Be Awarded

A matter of general interest to the people of Anderson County has been the announcement of the prize list for the field day exercises to be held in the city on March 27. This list was announced last night and is reproduced below in full.

Miss Maggie Garlington, supervisor of rural schools for Anderson county has been spending the last few days in interviewing the merchants of the city in an effort to secure the prizes and Miss Garlington said last night that it was a matter of regret to her that she could not see every merchant. She said that all those she did see answered the call most readily and that she could easily secure twice the number required, if it had been necessary.

Miss Garlington also said that the map drawing contest excited great interest, is open either to boys or girls. Many questions have been asked in regard to this and the fact that it is open to both will be the cause of much congratulation on both sides.

Miss Garlington said last night that it had been determined to hold the spelling, map drawing and the arithmetic contests in private this year, since this is the first year that anything of the kind had been attempted and that the definite hours for these various contests would be announced at an early date through the columns of The Intelligencer. She also said that schools desiring to enter the float contest would have to advise her at an early date as the list would soon be closed.

The full and complete list of prizes as announced last night will be found as follows:

CHANGE MADE IN COTTON REPORTS

Method of Publishing the Statistics Will Shortly Be Altered

Announcement has been received in Anderson of a change to be made in the method of publishing cotton statistics. This change was yesterday announced by William J. Harris, director of the bureau of the census, commerce department.

The annual reports on the quantity of cotton ginned have heretofore included the quantity of linters obtained by the oil mills. Formerly there was only a comparatively small quantity of linters obtained and they were of such a grade as could be used to some extent for the same purposes as were the lower grades of cotton. Many of the oil mills have now installed machinery for the cleaner delinting of the seed. This has resulted in a large increase in the total quantity of linters produced each year and at the same time, in lowering the average quality of the fiber, so that now only a small part if any is used as a substitute of lint cotton.

It, therefore, appears advisable not to include the quantity of linters in the total production of cotton for the crop, and accordingly, the totals in the report to be issued on March 30 will relate only to lint cotton and will not include linters. Information as to the production of linters, however, will be given in a footnote so that comparative figures may be computed on the basis of the reports issued in previous years.

State Income Tax.
A. W. Jones, comptroller general, said yesterday that he would use every effort to enforce the state income tax law. The general assembly refused to repeal the law at the last session.

COTTON SEED DAY TO DRAW BIG CROWD

FEATURE ARRANGED FOR TRADES DAY

PRIZES OFFERED

Farmers From All Parts of The County Will Come to Anderson Tuesday

Those who have charge of the program for Farmers Trades Day to be held next Tuesday in Anderson, say that more people will be present for the event than for any similar event held in Anderson within the past few months. The day has been officially designated "Cotton Seed" Day and the farmers of Anderson county who feel an interest in this important line of work will attend almost to a man.

Secretary Whaley said yesterday that he expected a bigger and better attendance for the meeting than he had been able to procure since the Poultry Day and that he had been advised by many farmers that interest was manifested in their community. The following is the complete program for the day:

Opening of meeting—Mrs. F. L. Brown of Anderson, chairman.

Invocation—Rev. W. T. Belvin, pastor Orrville Methodist church.

Address—S. A. Burns, president Anderson county Live Stock association, on "Seed Selection."

Address—"Preparation of the Seed Bed," by (a) Prof. W. H. Borton, Clemson college. (b) P. H. Calvin U. S. government agent expert.

Awarding of prizes.

A special prize will be given away to the farmer exhibiting the best peck of cotton seed, and variety, short staple. All entries must be delivered at the offices of the Anderson Chamber of Commerce by 12 o'clock the day of the contest.

Prize: One special Avery Geo. White cultivator, given by the Tate Hardware company of Anderson.

J. M. Broyles, Townville, Star Route.

Ja. R. Anderson, Anderson Route No. 8.

Col. J. C. Stribling, Pendleton.

COUNTY FIELD DAY ONLY 2 WEEKS OFF

THE PRIZE LIST IS NOW ABOUT COMPLETE

MARCH 27 IS DATE

It is Expected That 6,000 School Children Will Participate in Day's Exercises

A conference was held yesterday morning between the county superintendent of education and the supervisor of rural schools for Anderson county, at which time all the final plans were made for the great field day exercises to take place in this city on March 27, and the two officials put the finishing touches on the program. All indications now are that the field day will be one of the most successful events ever attempted by the schools of Anderson county.

There are many features on the program for the day, chief among which is the great parade of school children attending the Anderson city schools. There will probably be over 2,500 Anderson school children in this line, all of them being from the city schools.

Another decided feature of the day will be the splendid floats. All told about 15 schools in various parts of the county will enter floats and it is expected that they will make quite a brave show. The teachers who will lead floats from their schools are now busily engaged in decorating their wagons and it is said that this particular part of the program will surprise the people who see the floats pass in review.

The time for holding this great event is drawing near and some of the schools are a little behind with their preparations. They will have to put forth redoubled efforts for the remaining two weeks if they are to be ready by the morning of Friday, March 27. The school parade of city children will be the first event on the program and following the conclusion of this and the appearance of the floats the scene of activities will be moved to Buena Vista Park where the athletic program will be staged. Here the remainder of the morning will be taken up with athletic features and then will come the picnic dinner, which will be served in the park. The sight of 6,000 school children eating picnic dinner will be well worth seeing and many people will journey out from the city just for the chance to see this going on.

The many contests to take place on field day have aroused much interest and already the various schools are being carefully drilled and coached by the teachers in order that they may make a good showing. Spelling contests the map drawing contest, arithmetic contest, athletic events and the exhibits will all call for large share of interest, while the events in connection with household sciences, domestic arts and manual training will also bring many children to the city for the day.

All told, those who have been working for the field day are of the opinion that the entire day will be a great success and they feel that the people of Anderson should appreciate what they have done. That the people are appreciative is evidenced by

GREAT BLIZZARD OF YEARS AGO

This Day in 1888 Witnessed One of the Greatest Blizzards Ever Known

Those Anderson people who complained "bitterly" about the cold weather of recent date should remember what happened on this day twenty-six years ago, on March 18, 1888. The greatest blizzard that the United States has ever known and continued unabated until March 24.

Traffic was demoralized, communication, not only between cities but within each city was cut off, and all wires were crippled to such an extent that messages of only the utmost importance were taken by special companies with the understanding that they would be sent if possible. The cities suffered a food shortage for the few days. The storm this year which lacked in volume was almost as furious but the temperature was around freezing which softened the hardships on trains stuck for 60 hours in snow banks and others caught out in the snow.

What will be, it is said, the largest reinforced concrete arch bridge in the world is now being built at Langweil, on the Chur Arosa railroad. It will have a 160-foot rise and 330 feet between abutments.

RESIST LEACHING

THE SOURCE OF AMMONIA is the most vital consideration in the selection of fertilizers. Being the most expensive element of plant food, it should be bought in such form that it will neither leach out in the soil nor be dormant because of its slow process of nitrification.

The MORRIS BRANDS are ammoniated with the world's best nitrogen bearing materials, and have proven their superiority in crop production over other fertilizers by scores of tests. This claim is substantiated by the testimony of farmers who used them last year by the side of others, and whose letters appear in our current Year Book. Call on your dealer, or write us for a copy.
